PATRIOTIC HYMN

[John Greenleaf Whittier]

Our fathers' God! from out whose hand
The centuries fall like grains of sand,
We meet today, united, free,
And loyal to our land and Thee,
To thank Thee for the era done,
And trust Thee for the opening one.

Here where of old by Thy design,
The fathers spoke that word of Thine,
Whose echo is the glad refrain
Of rended bolt and falling chain,
To grace our festal time, from all
The zones of earth our guests we call.

Be with us while the new world greets
The old world thronging all its streets,
Unveiling all the triumphs won
By art or toil beneath the sun;
And unto common good ordain
This rivalry of hand and brain.

Thou who hast here in Concord furled
The war flags of a gathered world,
Beneath our western skies fulfill
The Orient's mission of good will,
And freighted with love's golden fleece,
Send back its argonauts of peace.

For art and labor met in truce,
For beauty made the bride of use,
We thank Thee; but withal we crave
The austere virtues strong to save,
The honor proof to place or gold,
The manhood never bought nor sold.

Oh, make Thou us, through centuries long,
In peace secure, in justice strong;
Around our gift of freedom draw
The safeguards of Thy righteous law;
And cast in some diviner mold,
Let the new cycle shame the old.

PATRIOTIC UTTERANCE BY THREE PRESIDENTS

For us there is but one choice. We have made it. Woe be to the man or group of men that seeks to stand in our way in this day of high resolution, when every principle we hold dearest is to be vindicated and made secure for the salvation of the nations. We are ready to plead at the bar of history, and our flag shall wear a new luster. Once more we shall make good with our lives and fortunes the great faith to which we were born, and a new light shall shine in the face of our people.—From address of President Wilson at Washington on Flag Day, June 14, 1917.

Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. . . . we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to the cause for which they gave the full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that the nation shall, under God, have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people shall not perish from the earth.—From the Gettysburg address, delivered at the dedication of Gettysburg National Cemetery, November 19, 1863.

Observe good faith and justice toward all nations; cultivate peace and harmony with all; religion and morality enjoin this conduct; and can it be that good policy does not equally enjoin it? It will be worthy of a free, enlightened, and, at no distant period, a great nation, to give to mankind the magnanimous and too novel example of a people always guided by an exalted justice and benevolence. Who can doubt that, in the course of times and things, the fruits of such a plan would richly repay any temporary advantages which might be lost by a strict adherence to it? If we remain one people under an efficient government, the period is not far off when we may defy material injury from external annoyance; when we may take such an attitude as will cause the neutrality we may at any time resolve upon, to be scrupulously respected; when belligerent nations, under the impossibility of making acquisitions upon us will not lightly hazard the giving us provocation; when we may choose peace or war, as our interest, guided by justice, shall counsel.—From the Farewell Address of George Washington, written September 17, 1796.

RADICAL STATEMENTS OF GREAT TRUTHS

[From Lincoln's messages to congress]

This country, with its institutions, belongs to the people who inhabit it. Whenever they shall grow weary of the existing government they can exercise their constitutional right of amending it.

I hold that while man exists it is his duty to improve not only his condition, but to assist in ameliorating mankind.

Labor is the superior of capital and deserves much the higher consideration. Capital has its rights, which are as worthy of protection, as any other rights. Nor should this lead to a war upon property.

Property is the fruit of labor. Property is desirable, is a positive good in the world.

Let not him who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him work diligently and build one for himself, thus by example assuring that his own shall be safe from violence when built.

WHAT WAR DOES

The British air council has just issued a report which would have made Jonathan Swift despair of finding irony adequate to describe it.

Following the armistice, there was a sudden drop in the demand for aeroplanes, but the council felt that it must keep its workers employed, and "accordingly," says the report, "machines were taken from contractors which were not wanted, and as national factories were also to be kept going, it was necessary to find work for the people there, with the result that machines taken from contractors were sent to the national factories to be destroyed to keep the people there employed."

The thought of giving these workers a holiday at half or full pay, instead of building up planes with one force for another body of workers to take apart and destroy, never seems to have occurred to the astute council.—New York World.

FULL FREEDOM OF SPEECH

I have always been among those who believe that the greatest freedom of speech was the greatest safety, because if a man is a fool the best thing to do is to encourage him to advertise the fact by speaking. It cannot be so easily discovered if you allow him to remain silent and look wise, but if you let him speak, the secret is out and the world knows that he is a fool.—Woodrow Wilson.

"THEY AIN'T DONE RIGHT BY PA," DECLARES SNELL

"Poor Old Dad," at last is about to come into his own. He has a new-found friend in Representative Snell, who proposes to upset the policy of keeping the "Old Man" in the background except on pay day.

In a bill which he introduced in the house last week it is provided that "Father's Day" shall be celebrated each year by the display of flags and the wearing of roses, the same as white carnations are worn on Mother's Day.

If the bill passes the president will be asked to name the third Sunday in June of each year as the date for the celebration. The Snell measure contains this, among other provisos:

"Roses of any color may be worn on the proposed Father's Day, and the national emblems would be displayed on government buildings and private dwellings."

TOPICS IN BRIEF

The most notable thing about the "campaign of terrorism" launched by the anarchists is that no one seems to be terrorized by it.—New York Evening Sun.

You can grin and take it, Heinie. Or you needn't grin.—Greenville, S. C., Piedmont.

The scoundrel who sent Edith Cavell to her death is to be tried for her murder. When he is convicted will the mushy folk over here plead for a suspended sentence?—Rochester Herald.

THE PLAGUE OF CARBON AND ITS CURE

No device ever put on the market has so conclusively demonstrated its usefulness to the motorist as the ESTA WATER AUXILIATOR. Carbon delays on the road and in the work shop are entirely eliminated by its use, to say nothing of the measured efficiency obtained from the motor and the saving of fuel and annoyance. The principle is as old as the hills, but no master mind has, previous to this time, been able to put into practice an efficient article. Many makeshifts have been discarded, many more will appear, but none will accomplish the results that the ESTA WATER AUXILIATOR will.

Steamboat Springs SANITARIUM

Large Hotel Also Being Planned by Corporation

Steamboat Springs properly improved and advertised should more than double the population of Reno and Carson City in a very short time.

The waters of Steamboat Springs are most invigorating and health restoring. The analyses show many medicinal minerals, including mercury in solution. Hundreds will testify to the cures that have been effected.

Hot Springs, Arkansas, with no attraction but its hot springs, with only 600 feet altitude and an annual rainfall of fifty inches, has a population of 20,000.

Steamboat Springs, with 4,500 feet altitude and an average annual precipitation of nine inches, with pure air, pure water and almost continuous sunshine, should attract more people than Hot Springs, Arkansas.

With Truckee river, Tahoe, Pyramid and Washoe lakes, all noted for splendid fishing, with Steamboat Springs, its hotel as contemplated, the latter place should become one of the most noted resorts of the west.

The company is planning to erect at Steamboat Springs a sanitarium to cost $250,000, a hotel to cost $150,000, a natatorium and other improvements to cost $100,000.

The fiscal agent will soon go east to sell stock to physicians, who will send health and pleasure seekers to Steamboat Springs.

The par value of the stock is $1.00 per share. A limited number of shares is now being sold at 15 cents per share. The price will be rapidly advanced as sales are made, with the object of raising the price to par before placing stock on sale in the east.

Here is a chance to get in on the ground floor. If this stock sells as it should, and as we believe it will, the stock will soon be selling for $1.00 per share. Buy now while the stock is selling for 15c.

If you are interested in the development of Nevada you cannot afford to pass this without giving it some support. Every name added to the list of stockholders will help to interest physicians and others in the east. Get your name on the list of boosters for Reno.

M. D. Fairchild, cashier of the Stockgrowers and Ranchers Bank, is the treasurer of the company. It has been arranged that all the money shall remain in the treasury until enough stock has been sold to pay for and improve the property sufficient for local patronage.

The directors of the company are: George Brodigan, secretary of state; John B. O'Sullivan, U. S. surveyor general; H. E. Stewart, mayor of Reno; E. E. Roberts, former congressman; R. N. Ballou, Chicago banker; M. D. Fairchild, cashier Stockgrowers and Ranchers bank; F. J. DeLongchamps, state architect; M. A. Robison, president Nevada State Medical Association; Miles E. North, district manager New York Life Insurance company; Fred L. White, postmaster at Reno; H. J. Gosse, proprietor Riverside hotel; G. M. Gardner, physician and surgeon; C. V. Eggleston, president Union Securities company; Gilbert C. Ross, Nevada state bank examiner and E. R. Dodge, president Nevada Trust Co.
